BURNING YOUR CROP

In fertilizing your cotton and corn, care should be taken to apply at least 600 pounds of high grade fish, blood and bone fertilizer to the acre for the best and most lasting results. Where less than 600 pounds of fertilizer is used to the acre, it acts as a stimulant only, and the crop takes more plant food from the soil than it furnishes, and your soil runs down, but where you use 600 pounds or more of line fertilizer to the acre, you furnish the soil with more plant food than ffie crop takes from it and your soil improves. And besides, the more fertilizer you use, the faster your crop grows and the quicker your land is shaded and you know that is an advantage. And then with heavy fertilization you have larger stalks, more limbs and leaves and bolls. This gives you more vegetable matter for a fue soil this vegetable matter furnishes humus for the soil and soil without humus is like leather without oil, its usefulness is greatly impaired. And then heavy fertilization makes more bolls and this makes more bales, and there is where you make your money in farming,

The difference in cost of fertilizing an acre with 400 pounds and but pounds of fertilizer is around $3 an acre, the difference in the crop will be at least 100 pounds of lint cotton and at present prices that is a little the rise of $13.00. That is how it pays. There is: no doubt of its paying and 600 pounds to the acre will pay better than 400 pounds or 300 pounds. Unless the ground is in an unusually high state of cultivation we doubt if it will pay to use more than 600 pounds to the acre for cotton or corn. If your lands are red our 8-3-3 or our 9-3-3 or our 10-3-3 is about what you need.

If your lands are gray use our 8-4-4 or our 10-4-4. If you are all little late in planting, use our 10-3-3 or our 10-4-4, as the extra percentage of phosphoric acid will hasten the growth and maturity of your cotton. If you don't care to use 600 pounds to the acre on all your crop, try it on half and see where you make your money.

We are getting out a fish, blood and bone goods that has no equal, and farmers using it this year will have an advantage in crop making that people who are deprived of it will not understand. We hope you have noticed the analysis of our goods this year, issued by Clemson College. Not a single sample has fallen down the analysis of every one of them stands up like a little tin soldier. Where the price is the same, get the best.

J. R. Vandiver, President.
